GOV. JAS. B. McCREARY

Democratic Candidate for Congress, Gives an Account of His Stewardship.

And Tells of the Outrages Perpetrated by the Party in Power.

A Crisis Confronts the Country and Every Democrat Should be Equal to the Occasion.

Although Saturday was a rainy and disagreeable day generally, a court-house full of people, principally farmers, greeted our candidate for Congress, Gov. James B. McCreary, when he arose to address them. He commenced by saying that it is always a pleasant task for a servant who has tried to faithfully perform the duties imposed upon him, to render an account of his stewardship and it was especially pleasant to him to have so many solid and thoughtful men to listen to what he had to communicate. He had not come to amuse his audience with anecdotes or attempt to thrill them with oratory, but to tell in a plain way how he and his fellow democrats had striven to prevent the outrages committed by the party in power during the 10-months session of Congress, which began with a scandal and ended with one. Having secured every department of the government the republicans have thrown off the mask and heaped outrage after outrage upon the people until a crisis confronts the country greater than any that has ever menaced it except civil war.

The constitution, which guarantees equal rights to all, exclusive privileges to none, had been ignored and the republicans had legislated only in the interest of classes and against the masses. There never was such a Congress as the session just closed. It was a carnival of scandal, commencing with Tanner's reckless conduct of the pension office, which caused the president to demand his resignation. The despotic course of the Speaker, who, running the House without rules, knew no authority but his own sweet will, ignored the precedents of 100 years and disregarded the rulings endorsed by Clay, Blaine, Carlisle and the other illustrious Speakers, who had presided over the body. The republican majority of three was not sufficient for their designs, so the unseating of democrats began. Right and justice were trampled under foot and nine democrats, with majorities ranging all along to over 13,000, were ordered to give way to republicans, who had no further claims than that they would act with the dominant party. Two Northern republicans had had a fist fight on the floor of the House; Kennedy, a republican had denounced Senator Quay, the chairman of the Republican National Committee, as a felon and a Judas Iscariot and the latter had not opened his mouth in refutation of the charges; Cannon, the republican chairman of the committee on appropriations, had used such vulgar language as to cause the ladies in the galleries to flee in dismay. Finally, in order to placate the negroes, Venable, of Virginia, who was elected as fairly as the governor, was selected as a victim and his seat given to Langston, a creature who looks more like a mule than any human being he had ever seen. To prevent the consummation of this outrage the democrats used all the means in their power and at last left the hall in disgust. It was then that Reed ordered the doors locked, an usurpation of power never before attempted, and that it was promptly kicked down by Kilgore, of Texas. The last scene of the disgraceful session was the arraignment and dismissal of the republican post-master of the House, who, not content with his $4,000 salary, had caused the contractors to pay him from 20 to 50 per cent. of their amounts. Thus the Congress opened with scandal, developed a series of scandals during its session and ended with a scandal.

The governor here digressed a little to say that he had heard that his old friend, Ewell, who thought he was running against him two years ago and who seems to have been permanently retired, had kicked himself till he had worn out one or more pair of boots, because he had not contested the governor's election by a 55% majority, after seeing that democrats with 13,000 majority had been turned out.

Let us look at some of the legislation that added further infamy to the disgraceful acts of the session. First the silver bill, which provides for the coinage of $2,000,000 a month was repealed to take effect next July, and which practically demonetizes silver. It is the contraction of currency that is paralyzing agricultural interests and mortgaging farms all over the country. In 1870 there were $52 in circulation for every man, woman and child in the land. In 1890, with 64,000,000 of people, the circulating medium is $400,000,000 less than 20 years ago.

When the farmers get in tight places financially and they are threatened with heavy losses, does the secretary of the treasury come to their relief? He does not, yet this same secretary went the other day when a money panic was threatened in New York and asked the bankers and brokers what he must do to avert it. They told him to raise the price of 4 per cent. bonds to $125 and redeem them with 12 months' interest in advance and pay 9 months' interest in advance on the 4s. This cost the people $12,000,000 and was done solely in the interest of a class, the money men of the East. Every act of the republicans has been in the interest of either of the three classes, manufacturers, railroads and the money kings. They paid the bondholders in gold, while greenbacks were a legal tender for all other claims, and demonetized silver because its continued coinage benefits the farmer and the mechanic, who constitute more than 2/3 of the population. No bill has ever been passed for them in all the history of republican legislation.

The governor designated the McKinley tariff bill as the colossal curse of the 19th century and said that Monday, Oct. 6, the day on which it went into effect, will be known in history as "Black Monday." The republicans say to the farmer that the bill is in their interest, but this is an insult to their intelligence. It robs them all along the line, increases the necessities of living and does not increase the price of their products. It is the tariff that enabled Wanamaker to make $8,000,000 out of gentlemen's clothing and furnishing goods in the 21 years since he was a messenger boy and enabled him to pay $200,000 for the honor of holding a cabinet position, so as to give his family standing in society. It is the tariff that enables Andrew Carnegie to clear $3,000,000 a year on the manufacture of iron and steel, notwithstanding he was working at $10 a day 23 years ago, and it was the criminal donation of 200,000,000 acres of the public domain to railroads which enabled John Rockefeller to rise from an abrakeman to the owner of $20,000,000 in a few years. During the war the tariff was raised to 40 per cent. to meet the expenses of the conflict, but now 25 years afterwards and when peace reigns supreme, it is raised to 60 per cent. Every one of the necessities of life are increased in price by it and object lessons of it are occurring all over the country to show the republicans how great was their mistake to permit the bill to go into effect before the election. The governor read a list of the tremendous increases in the duties showing how blankets, for instance, had been increased from 60 to 110 per cent., and tin plate, which is used in the manufacture of all kinds of tin vessels, &c., more than doubled, notwithstanding there is not a manufactory of tin plate in this country. Unless the iniquities and inequalities of this bill are remedied the speaker saw nothing but ruin for the agricultural and other interests of the West and South.

When Cleveland retired from office he left the largest surplus ever known in the history of any government. There was not room in the treasury to hold the money and a pit had to be dug in which to store it. But the vast sum has been squandered and the treasury vaults are as empty as the Mammoth Cave. The last year of Cleveland's administration, the expenses of the government aggregated $305,000,000; this year it is $501,000,000, and notwithstanding the tremendous revenues of the country there will be a deficit at the beginning of the next fiscal year of $51,000,000. Ought not the people to drive from power a party which has not only squandered the surplus, but increased the expenditures unnecessarily over $100,000,000?

After referring to the admission of such Territories to Statehood as Wyoming and Idaho, each with less than the population of an ordinary congressional district, solely for party advantage, and the denial of the right to New Mexico and Arizona, because they would add to the democratic strength, the governor branched out on the Force bill, the grandest iniquity that ever disgraced a civilized country, the most audacious, arbitrary and desperate measure ever offered in any legislature. It is a blow at the rights of the people all over the country and a declaration of war on the South. If it is adopted race conflicts will issue and disorder and turmoil will take the place of peace and good will. The measure to take the elections from the people and place them in the hands of Federal supervisors had passed the House and is still hanging like the sword of Damocles in the Senate, ready to fall on the side that the people decided in the coming election. If the republicans carry the House it will be passed at once, if the democrats win it we shall hear no more of the Force bill. Therefore it is the duty of every lover of liberty to go to the polls and say by his vote I will not have the methods and customs of 100 years rudely set aside to perpetuate one party in power.

For the month prior to his departure from Washington, Gov. McCreary had acted as chairman of the National Democratic Congressional Committee, and from reports from all over the Union he was able to say that the democrats would increase their strength all over the North and Northwest. We will gain 8 members in Ohio, 2 in Massachusetts,

1 in New Hampshire, 1 in Connecticut, 1 in Michigan, 2 or 3 in Iowa, 2 in New York, 1 in Pennsylvania, 1 in Kentucky, 1 in Tennessee, 1 in North Carolina and 1 in South Carolina and our majority in the next Congress will be at least 20.

Flower, the chairman of the committee, writes that the outlook is even better than a month ago. The democrats all over the country are aroused to a realization of the crisis that threatens the country and he believed that they would express themselves in full force at the polls.

In conclusion the governor thanked the democrats of Lincoln for their partiality in the past and urged them to let nothing prevent them from voting at the coming election, for never was there more at stake than at present and at no time was a tremendous popular disapproval of iniquitous measures more important than now.

The above synopsis hardly conveys an idea of Gov. McCreary's two hours' speech, though we have endeavored to bring out the most important points. It was a splendid speech, splendidly delivered and was listened to with the closest attention. The compliments were numerous and profuse and we heard several republicans and one or more prohibitionists declare that they would vote for McCreary as sure as the 4th of November arrived. Let old Lincoln give the largest majority she has ever rolled up.

BOBBITT'S U. S. HISTORY.

Here are the First Two Pages of the Wonderful Book.

A vast continent lay reposing under a gray mantle, woven by nature, in the silent loom of centuries! Like a monstrous giant it lay extended, with its head pillow'd upon the frozen bosom of the Arctic ocean, amid whose eternal ice, thawsnow and lonely desolation no sound ever occurred to disturb its unbroken slumbers; its left hand extending to the broad Atlantic and its right laved by the dark blue waters of the wide Pacific, and whose gigantic feet presented a storm-beaten front to the further expanse of the Antarctic ocean, with Lake Itasca its heart, the mighty Mississippi its aorta and the Rocky Mountains its vertebral! The most fertile imagination can scarcely grasp the huge dimensions of this undiscovered monster, as it lay supinely reposing amid nature's wildest solitudes! Upon its broad and expansive bosom no trace of civilized man had ever left its impress. The gray moss of 60 centuries deeply rooted in the dust of ages, lay heavy upon its silent head. The great luminary of the day, whose fiery eye looked daily down from his blue throne above, could not penetrate the thick gloom of its mighty forests; the pale Empress, the beautiful queen of night, covered the summits of its tall mountains with her silvery sheen, and far above their lofty heads the resplendent stars, the bespangled livery of night, danced in twinkling silence their eternal coronet of glory! Of all the learned men and wise philosophers of the Old World, not one even dreamt that such a continent lay in this division of the globe, extending from ocean to ocean, and almost from pole to pole!

But there arose a man, of humble birth, a wool-comber, in the walks of lowly life, born at Genoa, in Italy, who from much reading and diligent study of geography thought that such a continent existed. But his theory was derided and laughed to scorn by the learned men and crowned heads of Europe, and his schemes of discovery, which not only gave to "Leon and Castile" a new empire, but ultimately gave to civilized man a new world, were ridiculed as wild and chimerical. And cold, pitiless poverty joined hands with scorn and derision, and the three cruel sisters danced in jeering mockery around the destined great discoverer, and thus for 18 long years "chill penury repressed his noble rage" and the coffers were closed and the ports of Europe locked against his exit. But it has been truly said that when any great discovery became necessary, or the conveniences of civilization require some new invention, or that some important revolution should be borne upon the shoulders of some conquering hero, Providence always raises up the man to make the discovery, to dig out the invention from the exhaustless mine of science and wrest it from her reluctant hand, and the military chieftain to lead a people groaning under oppression and sighing for liberty, to the goal of success!

—Mr. Martin, inspector of factories for the State of Pennsylvania, reports: "I regard Wanamaker's establishment as a great half-way house that leads to gilded dens of vice." Wanamaker pays his female clerks $6 per week and requires that out of it they pay their board, 60 cents car fare and dress neatly and becomingly, so as to draw custom to his Cheap John counters.

CRAB ORCHARD.

—The south-bound afternoon freight, No. 33, killed a fine cow for Mr. A. H. Bastin, Tuesday.

—Several typographical errors in the Teachers' Association report showed us up in rather a bad light to our fellow pedagogues.

—Reese Ward bought this week of O. P. Newland and Sam Cochran 20 head of hogs averaging 213 pounds at $3.60 per cwt. R. H. Bronaugh bought of Wm. Henderson 2 feeders, weighing 1,150 pounds each, for $60. Dan Holman and R. H. Bronaugh sold to Reese Ward 5 head of mountain cattle at 1½ cents.

—"Sociables," as Dan Slaughter politely christened winter play parties, are "coming in" again. Tuesday night there was one at Mr. Hayden's, in the Cedar Creek locality; and Saturday night Mr. and Mrs. Will Curtis invited a large bevy of youngsters to their home, and, after allowing them to enjoy themselves in all pleasant pastimes, regaled them with a nice supper of cake and ices and sent them away "by the light of the moon" hymning the praises of their excellent host and hostess.

—Mr. Joe Pleasants, who lately returned from California, purchased this week of the Lincoln Land Co., the house and lot located near the depot and known as the Otteneheimer cottage. The price paid was $700. Mr. Pleasants was once a citizen of our town and we are glad to welcome him and his excellent family again into our midst. He will take possession of his new home as soon as practicable.

—Prof. J. W. Smith's wife arrived Thursday from Ohio and is with her husband at the Harris House. Mr. and Mrs. Dr. Pettus are visiting relatives in Richmond. Miss Lizzie Gormley is back from a six-weeks' visit to Lexington. J. W. Brooks was here one day this week. Miss Bettie Higgins was called home from Somersett by the sudden paralytic attack of her brother-in-law, Mr. George H. King. Mr. King is some better, however, at this writing. G. C. Davis has moved back to the J. H. Collier cottage. Mr. Charles Sayers and family have removed to Jessamine county and there is now moping around town more than one young man with black crepe on his hat.

—Found, on last Sunday evening, six miles from town, in the middle of a dense woods, a ragged-topped, muddy-wheeled, broken-shaft buggy, drawn by a sorrel horse and containing two tight-panted, high-collared, gay-cravated, finger-ringed, fancy-fed, daints-struck dudes. Said horse had the harness broken on him and looked tired, and the said dudes had an I'm-sent-for-and-can't-get-there expression on their pale visages, which bespoke too plainly the agony of an "inward strife." They were wrapped in foil, tenderly handled and brought to town, where the owner may have them by calling at the INTERIOR JOURNAL bureau, proving property and paying for this "ad."

—The Baptist church was packed from pulpit-railing to vestry entrance Tuesday night to witness the Demostre Medal Contest, brief announcement of which appeared in our last report. Ten bright-eyed, beautiful girls, six large and four small ones, attired in commencement day finery, were enrolled as contestants, and, in each, it was easy for one to see a winner of one of the two handsome silver medals, glittering on the marble-top chancel table. In the absence of Rev. J. G. Livingston and Judge W. O. Hansford, Prof. J. W. Smith and Mr. J. R. Bailey were selected to act with Mr. R. Lee Davis as judges of the contest and these three took their seat in front of the carpeted dais, where every gesture and tone of the declaimers could be noted. The programme, gotten up under the auspices of the W. C. T. U., and read by Miss Mary Robinson, consisted altogether of temperance pieces and were somewhat touching we confess, when set off with the personality of these three innocent maiden declaimers. All were well recited, but it was apparent to the audience that the victory lay between Miss Norah Dunnigan, Miss Allie Fish and Miss Eva Steger and with some impatience the decision of the judges was waited for. Computing and adding carefully the marks of each, as to articulation, voice, gesture, etc., those august personages decided that Miss Eva Steger had won the large medal and little Miss Freddie Myers the small one, and these memorials were at once presented to the winners by Mr. Davis in a brief presentation speech, in which were some complimentary words for the noble women who comprise the W. C. T. U. The vocal music by the choir and instrumental music by the cornet band formed no insignificant feature of the contest which was all in all a very creditable entertainment. Next month two more silver medals will be given away and we hope the list will be fuller.

—Two brothers named Thomas, who had been at enmity for years, met at the bedside of their dying mother, at Penfield, N. Y., and fought while her life ebbed away. She was dead when the unnatural encounter was over.

DEMOCRATIC TICKET.

For Congress,

JAMES B. MCCREARY.

Call For Meeting of County Committee.

The members of the Democratic County Committee are urgently requested to meet at Stanford at 1 p.m., Saturday, Nov. 1. It is important that every member should be present.

THOS. RICHARDS, Chairman.

Just a week from to-day the next House of Representatives is to be elected by the people of the United States, who will be given an opportunity to express themselves on the brazen efforts that the republicans have made to perpetuate their party in power. The tariff bill, the turning out of the fairly elected democrats, the admission of rotten States and the demonetization of silver are before the people for endorsement or disapproval. If the democrats will rise in their might and do their duty by putting the seal of their condemnation on these and other iniquitous measures, we shall hear no more of the Force bill and that other scheme to take from the States the power to arrange their own congressional districts. Let there be such a tidal wave of popular opinion as shall bring the republicans to their senses and cause them to stigmatize their designs of fraud and force. The democrats of the 8th district can help emphasize the disgust that every honest man feels by giving Gov. McCreary the largest majority he has ever received. Do not be deceived by the fact that he has no avowed republican opposition. He may have on election day. So go to the polls and cast your ballot for him and through him for free and honest government.

The "Old Roman," Allen G. Thurman will be 77 years of age November 13th and the Thurman Club of Columbus, O., will celebrate the event with a banquet in honor of the grand old statesman. President Cleveland and other distinguished gentlemen have accepted invitations and will be present. This office has also been honored with an invitation, but we shall leave the waiting world in suspense as to its intentions.

JUDGE PRYOR makes a statement which will surprise most people who have cases in the Court of Appeals, and think they are a long time being heard. He says that the court will be up with the dockets in three months. Outside of the cases submitted at the present term, there are only about 100 cases to be disposed of. "The court is closer up with its work," said the judge, "than any in the country."

A PHILADELPHIA importer tells the Record that on a single invoice of $2,407 worth of worsted goods for working men's wear he paid tariff charges of $378, which of course he will add to the price. The $378 then comes out of the poor men who buy the goods. And yet the republicans are trying to convince people who do not reason that the tariff is not a tax.

Gov. McCREARY showed us a letter from the chairman of the Wisconsin Democratic State Committee, which contained the gratifying prediction that the democrats would elect a majority of the legislature, which is to name the success, or to Senator Spooner. It is to be hoped that this is not of the nature of that kind of news said to be too good to be true.

WHENEVER the news gets scarce in the East some enterprising reporter sends out the rumor that President Cleveland has dropped dead. This was done again last Friday, but fortunately it proved untrue. The great tarif reformer and economist still lives and will occupy the White House when Mr. Harrison retires to obscurity.

COT. BILLY BRECKINRIDGE is making the welkin ring for his cousin, C. R. Breckinridge in the 2d Arkansas. He spoke at Lonoke to the largest political gathering ever witnessed in the State. Six other points will have the benefit of his oratory.

THE Elizabethtown News says that an error in the census of 1880 and the removal of the C. & O. shops caused that town to show a decrease of population this time. Prohibition, it declares, had nothing to do with it.

Gov. Hill's train collided with a freight and knocked him out of three appointments in West Virginia.

Pat Taylor, engineer of the passenger train, has since died, making the 7th victim of the C. S. disaster.

More than 20 squares, on which were cotton compresses, mills, factories, &c., were burned at Mobile Sunday, causing a loss of $700,000.

A rock threw the express train on the C. & O. off the track near Hinton on the 23d, killing the engineer and injuring several other train men.

At East Pepperell, Mass., Leighton Bros.' shoe factory burned, also three residences, seven stores and a block of boarding-houses. The loss is estimated at $300,000.

NEWS CONDENSED

—Florida's population is stated at 390,345, an increase of 120,942.

—Dr. Kalfus, the 78th victim of the Louisville tornado, died Sunday.

—Gibson's warehouse with 75,000 lbs. of tobacco burned at Cynthia.

—Conductor Walton, who caused the terrible wreck on the Cincinnati Southern, has skipped out.

—In a row at Cumberland Gap Sunday George Martin and James Norvell, brother-in-laws, were killed.

—Some time since the wife of John W. Higher, of Franklin, eloped with Higher's landlord to Tennessee. The deserted husband followed them thither, killed Mrs. Higher and then suicided.

—The extra session of the Ohio Legislature adjourned after passing Gov. Campbell's bill giving the mayor of Cincinnati power to appoint a Board of Public Improvements.

CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION.

—Mr. Miller has offered a resolution that the General Assembly shall make suitable provisions for the establishment and maintenance of a State library and shall create a permanent fund therefor out of the State revenues, which shall be inviolate and be expended exclusively in purchasing books, manuscripts, maps, charts and such property and effects as ordinarily belong to and constitute public libraries.

—This is the new preamble adopted after several weeks' debate.

—It is a great improvement upon the old one, which contained no mention of God, and reads:

"We, the people of the Commonwealth of Kentucky, grateful to Almighty God for the civil, political and religious liberty we enjoy, in order to secure to our selves and to succeeding generations the continuance of these blessings, do ordain and establish this constitution."

DEATHS: DOINGS.

—Mr. and Mrs. O. H. Waddle, of Somerton, mourn the death of their infant daughter, which occurred last week.

—Simeon Denny, aged nearly 104, died at his residence in Rockcastle, seven miles west of Mt. Vernon, Friday night. His father, who died about 18 years ago, lived to be 113. They lived in the same locality during their long term of life and were among the best citizens in Rockcastle.

—J. Knox Frazer, a prominent young lawyer of Monticello, died at his home last week of paralysis. He was partially paralyzed a couple of months ago and has since had several strokes, the last one affecting his entire system. Mr. Frazer was a warm-hearted, clever gentleman, a hard student and an able practitioner. Besides a loving wife, he leaves two young children, who will sadly miss a fond and loving father.

HUSTONVILLE.

—Miss Sallie Alcorn, of Peyton's Well neighborhood, died of heart disease last Tuesday night. She retired hearty and cheerful. Her mother was aroused by a convulsive movement and found her dying. Her remains were interred in Hustonville cemetery.

—Mr. Boyle Reid, of Boyle county, late of McKinney, will return to Lincoln and take an interest in the Hustonville Roller Mills. Porte Peacock, the model clerk of the St. Asaph Hotel, was up Saturday to see the changes since he left and his friends were glad to see that his shirt front is not covered with the sparklers which typify his profession.

—Though Wednesday, 23d, was a rainy, sloppy day, a large and lively crowd attended the Reynierson sale on the Fork and stock sold high in rare instances. Common and grade ewes $4 to $7.50; horses $50 to $140; cattle and hogs well up to the current prices; corn $1.85 to $1.95 per barrel in shuck in heap. Comest & Allen bought 3 good cotton mules, 15 hands, at Danville, at $100 each, one at Reynierson's sale for $81.75 and a lot of feeders of over 1,000 pounds average at $20 per head.

—A large and fashionable crowd from Hustonville and suburbs went to Danville Friday night to hear the celebrated cantatrice, Louise Kellogg, whose almost every season on the stage since we heard her 15 years ago, has been positively her last. Danville has been especially favored by the "only big town" cards this year. Scarcely had she recovered from the furore resultant from Forepaugh's grand(!) aggregation, when her neighbors are again posted with promises of a treat offered but once in a lifetime in a rustic village. All that prevented your scribe from increasing the ticket office receipts is the trivial reason Abe Fulkerston, poet laureate of Boyle, gave for not attending a certain big ball which he immortalized in his book of "occasional poems."

—We have it from good authority—a handsome young lady—that Liberty is likely to lose one of her best young lawyers. Whilst Louisville will profit by Liberty's loss, it is not probable that the bar will receive an addition, as the gentleman proposes embarking in some side-walk or street-corner business, which will afford best opportunities of seeing all the beautiful girls which proclaim that thoroughfare of world-wide celebrity, 4th Avenue. Should the gentleman need capital and assistance in his new enterprise one insertion in the I. J. will bring applications by the bushel. Young ladies need not apply—the gentleman is neither widower, bachelor nor Benedict.

—School Commissioner McClary was up this way last week affectionately distributing taffy amongst the female teachers and girl pupils. Frank is a natural mixer with the masses and would blush with maiden modesty could he hear the current comments after each of his visits. Mr. Milton H. Rudolph and wife, nee Miss Lou Carpenter, a native of Lincoln, of Wichita, Kansas, are here visiting Mrs. Rudolph's relatives. Mr. R. is an accomplished gentleman, whom we cordially welcome into one of our oldest and best known families. Joe Sallee, one of the nabob corner lot speculators of Big Stone Gap, found it necessary to pass through Hustonville last Thursday. Mrs. Lewis and daughter, of Gainesville, Tex. as, returned home last week after a protracted visit to West End relatives.

—Mr. Wm. Reid, Sr. is still confined to his room. Messrs. John and Jim Allen, Jim Goode, Buck and Will Weatherford put in two days fishing in Green River, near Dunnville, and caught 75 bass of about 2 lbs. average, the largest 34 lbs. They brought the fish home with them and nearly every family in town can furnish individual testimony as to the excellence of the fry. With an abiding faith in the belief that a fisherman sins will find him out, the party made no secret of the fact that they appreciate the capriciousness of fishes, and the necessity of a variety of baits, and went equipped for all emergencies, even to a snake-bite. Moreover, no bush whacking processes were permitted and every fish was taken in a sportsmanlike manner, fishy as the tale will seem to some anglers(?) I know. A general appreciation of the immense benefit to our streams that will rapidly follow the adoption of only hook and line in the capture of fish, should result from the evident increase of fish during the last year or two that wholesale seining has not been practiced. Destroy seines, nets and traps and in three years Green River will afford sport to rod and line anglers second to no stream in Kentucky.

—Tom Payne, a native of Russell county, who had lately taken the road in the interest of a wholesale grocery house, was here one day last week amongst his many friends and next day they were shocked by the news that he had been killed in a railroad wreck near Somerton. Almost simultaneously with Mr. Payne's death, a few miles further on, another wreck occurred in which the loss of life and railroad property was almost equal to the collision of two cannon ball passenger trains near the same place two or three years ago. It is safe to attribute the greater catastrophe to the crew of the freight train, as every responsible member of that crew was killed or is missing. Suppose that the gauzy charge that every member of that crew was asleep, whilst side-tracked by special order to await the passage of other trains, who is responsible for such an exhausted condition of the road's employees that an entire crew falls asleep on duty? That "corporations are soulless" has passed into the catalogue of American maxims, but when their greed leads to a criminal disregard of human life, which is not simply homicidal, but murderous, 'tis about time to call a halt and use a halter on a few scores of the immediately responsible agents of those soulless corporations. After the accident near Somerton spotters were thick, scores of employees were entrapped and discharged and a great show of reformation made, but the murderous mishaps continue as before. Statistics show that in America more brakemen are killed annually in the discharge of their duties, than passengers in the almost daily collisions, and all because some coupling device, which would insure the brakemen against accident, will cost a royalty. If within the province of our con. con. let the subject receive early and thorough attention in the matter of constitutional safeguards, which can not be overridden by legislators on the alert for the main chance.

—Coachman Williams' Luck.

Coachman John Williams, who guards the horseflesh of E. C. Howe, of Bristol, is in luck. He has just returned from a trip to California where his uncle died recently, leaving a large estate.

The interest on $7,500,000 was bequeathed to John and his brother William, who lives at Blackburn, N. Y. The wealthy de-cendent, Theodore Lederick, immigrated to America from Metz, Germany, in 1849, during the gold excitement in California, and he went to that state with only enough money to pay his fare. He got into the mining business and prospered. In 1876 he was worth $10,000,000, but during the panic in 1877 he lost heavily. Before his death he left several millions to charitable institutions in his country.—Philadelphia Record.

Courted Nine Girls at Once.

At Lowell William Anderson, who was arrested on suspicion of larceny, is quite a character. In his possession was found a memorandum book, recording the fact that he was courting nine girls.

For convenience sake he had them numbered from one to nine inclusive, and when he had occasion to refer to them in the memorandum it was by number.

One entry is the fact that No. 1 became aware that he was escorting No. 6 to places of amusement. His description of No. 7 would make her tear her hair if she read it. While traveling Anderson recorded that he had letters from eight of the girls in one day. Anderson claims a residence in Portland, Me., and was at one time a polo player.—Cor. Boston Globe.

The steamer, P. H. Kelley, struck a snag and sunk 35 miles below Memphis. The cargo was saved in a damaged condition.

A great deal for selling below the market. We think it easier to keep things lively through low prices than by trying to get too much. Slow work, this getting too much. We were never good at it. The daily papers have warned the people to

Lookout for Counterfeit Money

Recently put into circulation in this country and executed cleverly enough to pass most people unnoticed. We also desire to put people on their guard about counterfeit clothing and shoes that is for sale in this town and gotten up so cleverly as to deceive the most credulous. It's an open secret that no house so carefully guards the interests of its patrons as we do, by putting honesty into every transaction and by offering only such as we can recommend with our established guarantee. We've got the goods and the right kind; the quality is genuine, not counterfeit, and we not only claim but do sell a better quality and better grade of Clothing, Shoes, Dry Goods, Boots, Hats, Trunks, Carpets, &c., at lower prices than any other house in this section of the country.

Do not forget to get as many tickets as possible on that handsome Plush Parlor Set.

A sandwich Men's Union. The sandwich men of London, estimated to number some 15,000, are being urged to combine and form a trades union for the redress of their grievances and the protection of their interests. It is pointed out that their average wages range from 1s. to 1s. 1d. a day, for which they have to work nine or ten hours. Nor is this the worst, for it is not infrequently happens that these peripatetic advertisers apply in vain for employment three or four days in succession. Their chief complaint is against the contractor, or middle men, who, they allege, charge double what they pay.

The question has now been taken up by the labor bureau of the Salvation Army, which has issued an appeal to various religious, philanthropic and commercial societies inviting them to assist in the movement. This body undertakes to supply bill distributors and sandwich men at the rate of 2s. 2d. a day, the two shillings going to the men themselves and the odd pence toward the payment of expenses. The discovery has been made that a large proportion of the men of this class in London are discharged soldiers without pensions, and as many of them have young families to support their destitute condition can easily be realized.—London Letter.

Chinese as Bank Robbers.

A St. Paul dispatch to The Chicago Tribune says: "On the arrival of the Chicago, St. Paul and Omaha train this morning Detective Mason placed under arrest Wing Shoo and Gee Sham, two Chinamen on their way from New York to Portland. The robbery for which the Chinamen were held was that of the safe of one of the largest banking establishments in the Duffles, Ore. The safe was blown open and robbed of $10,000 on Sept. 15. It was found that the robbers had tunneled under the building from a long distance, and had calculated correctly where to strike under the bank vault.

There was at first no clew to the perpetrators of the bold deed. Suddenly suspicion was directed toward several Chinamen. Some arrests followed and a part of the money was found. The authorities got on the track of the two who arrived in St. Paul this morning, and their coming was awaited by detectives. The two Chinamen were searched and four large knives were found in their possession, on the blades of which was sandy soil, which is regarded as proof that the men were engaged in making the underground passage."

A Boom Town in Kentucky.

"Fifteen months ago," says a man who has just been there, "there were not a dozen people in Middlesborough, Ky. Now it has a population of 6,000. An English syndicate worth $20,000,000 is building the town. They have spent $300,000 in straightening a creek which runs through it, and have encircled it with a seventeen mile dummy line.

They have put up electric cars and electric light and have about completed seven furnaces.

Business buildings costing less than $10,000 are not allowed to be built, and lots are selling for as much as $450 a front foot. The bonds of the circular dummy line have been gobbed up at 115. The syndicate own 100,000 acres in and around the place and have already invested $1,500,000 on the investment.

Mr. Arthur, the manager for the syndicate, gets $35,000 a year for his services, and last Christmas they made him a present of $50,000.—New York Tribune.

An apple tree half full of green apples and the other half in bloom is a freak of nature now presenting itself on the farm of Mr. J. H. Prewitt near Hustonville. Samples of both blossoms and apples have been left at this office.

The Count and Countess Magri (the latter Mrs. Tom Thumb), drive around in a carriage no larger than a Saratoga trunk, drawn by a pair of ponies about the size of an ordinary dog. It is a cute sight, well worth coming to see. They will be here Saturday afternoon and evening and their turnout will be on exhibition. Don't fail to see it and the performance.

The directors of the First National Bank of this place, being of the opinion that \$200,000 capital is sufficient to supply all the legitimate demands of the bank's customers, resolved at a meeting Saturday to submit the question of reducing it to that amount, the excess of \$50,000 to be returned pro rata to the stockholders. The vote will be taken Nov. 20 and powers of attorney will be sent by President J. S. Hocker to each of the 128 stockholders for their decision. The move is a good one. The capital of this bank has always been too large. By the reduction the earning capacity will be increased, the depositors will be amply secured and the stockholders will still have the same interest in the \$16,500 surplus that they have now, which will, of course, increase the value of their stock. It requires a vote of $\frac{1}{2}$ to make the reduction, which it is thought will be secured and have votes to spare. See copy of circular on this page.

Mrs. TOM THUMB—Count and Countess Magri, Baron Magri and a company of specialty artists will be at Walton's Opera House on next Saturday afternoon and evening, Nov. 1. The Countess Magri, or Mrs. General Tom Thumb, as she is more familiarly known, is as attractive as ever, and still holds her place as queen of the midgets. Count Magri and his brother, the Baron, are two little swordsmen. They, together with the Countess, will be seen in sketches and pantomimes. The rest of the company consists of bell-ringers, vocalists, magicians, &c. In addition to these, Mile. Garretta will appear with her troop of 50 trained pigeons. Evening 25, 35 and 50, matinee 15, 25 and 35 cts.

CHURCH AFFAIRS.

Rev. L. H. Salin, the converted Jew, commenced a protracted meeting at the Baptist church, last night, to continue till further notice.

Mr. P. L. Simpson has taken the agency for Dr. Carroll Kendrick's new book, "Religious Issues, or Rules and Principles for Bible Study," and will supply those who wish it at $2, which is very cheap considering the size and value of the work.

—The Missionary Society of the Danville district will meet at the Methodist church at this place Friday evening at 7 o'clock and hold over Saturday and Sunday. Miss Libbie Pegan, of Millersburg, whose singing has been greatly enjoyed here, will be present and will assist the choir.

—Rev. E. H. Pearce delivered during the S. S. Conference here a very entertaining address on "The Growth of the Sunday-School Cause During the Past Century of Methodism in Kentucky," in which he stated that the first Sunday-school ever held in the United States was conducted by Bishop Asbury at the home of Joseph Crenshaw, in Hanover county, Va. He also said that the wife of a Methodist minister suggested the plan of Sunday-schools to Robert Raikes, who is known as the founder. We made liberal notes of the address, but unfortunately lost them.

TEACHERS' ASSOCIATION.

WHITE CAPS.—It seems that the conduct of young Ed Rochester for the last few months, has not met with the exact approbation of a self-appointed vigilance committee and during the last week he received several communications stating that he must mend his ways and be a better boy. The young gentleman heeded them not, however, and on Saturday night last he severely repented that he had not, for as he was going home that night a couple of masked men stepped up to him and without warning began to beat him unmercifully. After paddling him to their hearts' content they gave him a lecture, telling him that a repetition of his past offenses would be rewarded by a whipping doubly severe and hereafter he had better change his course for the better. They then told him to light out, which he did on shore notice and a few seconds later was safely housed at home. He does not know who the guilty parties are, but says that he could hear at least 25 voices saying, "Whip him, kill him, take his scalp," and the like. The young man is pretty sore over it and says he will certainly hunt the parties down.

ATTENTION HUNTERS.—Hon. R. C. Warren says the published Game Law is incorrect. Come to headquarters for breech and muzzle loading guns, powder shot and loaded shells, at low prices for cash, without any new tariff duties added. W. B. McRoberts.

WANTED.—100 pounds of nice butter and 500 dozen eggs. A. C. Martin, Maywood.

KISS YOUR BABY.—Those of our readers who visited Crab Orchard Springs last summer will remember a dashing little beauty from the West who kept a certain divine from Danville in dismay and surprise by saying to him at the most inopportune time and in the most bewitching way, "Kiss your baby!" The preacher did not have the courage to "sip the nectar from her ruby lips," but the young lady met one who did in Louisville. The Commercial tells the tale: "Kiss your baby" were the words that startled the Town Talker a few nights ago at a small reception. He was standing behind a curtain that cut off a little alcove from the rest of the room. The words were uttered by a charming girl, who is visiting Louisville, and who was a maid of honor to her highness the Queen of the Satellites. She was speaking to a handsome broker. Without a word, he leaned forward and, taking her at her word, kissed her full on the mouth. For an instant she stood as if thunderstruck. Then, drawing back her little hand, struck the young man a sounding blow on the cheek. Without waiting for an explanation, she turned and rushed from him. This will probably cure the young lady of using this expression.

MATRIMONIAL MATTERS.

GIDEON H. PRATHER, 75 years old, and three times a widower, and Mrs. Annie Camden, a widow of 63, obtained license and were married at the bride's residence near Waynsburg Sunday.

—It is stated that Miss Georgia Barnes will marry Mr. E. M. Duncan, of Lexington, in the early spring. Mr. Duncan is a son of Maj. H. T. Duncan, of the Lexington Press, and is connected with the paper.

—D. F. Anderson, a staunch old bachelor of the Goshen neighborhood, and Miss Addie Vanhook were united in marriage by Elder J. G. Livingston Thursday evening at 3 o'clock, at Mr. Larkin Vanhook's.

—Invitations have been received by her friends here to the marriage of Miss Mary Lewis Porter to Mr. Charles F. Terry, at her home at Glasgow, Nov. 4. Miss Porter visited Misses Mattie and Maggie Owlsley at this place a few years ago and will be remembered as a very beautiful and lovable young lady.
